ABSTRACT Diabetic Nephropathy is defined as a persistent albuminuria and more commonly diagnosed by a urinary excretion of more than 300 mg/24 hour. It develops in around one third of patients with [more]